THE SCHEDULE

(See section 6)

A.B. has been appointed a member of the Central Industrial Security Force under the Central Industrial Security Force Act, 1966, and is vested with the powers, functions and privileges of a member of the Force.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

At present security arrangements at important industrial undertakings in the public sector are handled by the watch and ward staff of the organisation concerned. The watch and ward staff is generally engaged in guarding the entrances or the perimeter of the industrial undertaking and in preventing entry of unauthorised persons. Unplanned recruitment, inadequate supervision, training and discipline have made the existing watch and ward staff ill-equipped to discharge its responsibilities. It is considered necessary to strengthen the security arrangements in vital industrial undertakings. For that purpose it is proposed to constitute a centrally recruited, organised and trained Industrial Security Force. The Force will primarily be responsible for the watch and ward of industrial undertakings owned by the Central Government and may be deployed at the request and cost of the managements, for security duties of industrial undertakings in public sector.

2. The Bill is intended to give effect to these proposals.

3. The following are the principal features of the Bill:—

(a) The Central Industrial Security Force will be constituted and maintained primarily for the better protection and maintenance of industrial undertakings owned by the Central Government (clause 3 of the Bill).

(b) The superintendence of the Force shall vest in the Central Government and subject thereto the administration of the Force shall vest in the Inspector-General of the Force who will be assisted by a Deputy Inspector-General, a Chief Security Officer and other Security Officers, etc. (clause 7 of the Bill).

(c) On a request being received from the Managing Director of an industrial undertaking in public sector, such number of officers and members of the Force as the Inspector-General may consider necessary may be deputed by the Inspector-General for the protection and security of that industrial undertaking and the cost to be incurred in connection with such officers and members while on deputation shall be borne by the industrial undertaking and not by the Government (clause 14 of the Bill).

(d) The duties of the officers and members of the Force have been spelt out in great detail (clause 10 of the Bill).

(e) Limited Powers of arrest and search without warrant have been given to a superior officer under specified circumstances (clauses 11, 12 and 13 of the Bill).

(f) Other provisions of the Bill deal with matters relating to recruitment, training, supervision, discipline, removal, dismissal, etc., of the members of the Force.

G. L. NANDA.

NEW DELHI;

The 9th July, 1966.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

As will appear from the statement of "Objects and Reasons" annexed to the Bill, the idea behind the Bill is to create a Central Industrial Security Force for watch and ward purposes in the vital industrial undertakings in the public sector all over the country.

2. Clause 3 and sub-clause (1) of clause 4 of the Bill provide that the Force shall consist of such number of superior officers and other ranks and shall receive such pay and other remuneration as may be prescribed.

3. For the implementation and proper working of the scheme the whole country will be divided into three zones and the scheme will be introduced in three stages taking one zone at a time. Initially, 7 battalions of the Central Industrial Security Force will be raised. An estimate of expenditure required for the 7 battalions of the Central Industrial Security Force, and the Intelligence Staff required to cover one zone along with the Headquarters Staff of the Inspector-General of the Force and a Zonal Deputy Inspector-General is given below:

	(Rs. in lakhs.)
Expenditure on Headquarters Staff :	2.78
Expenditure on the 7 battalions (including the Intelligence Staff)	153.12
	<hr/>
TOTAL :	155.90
Non-recurring expenditure :	37.69
Recurring expenditure :	118.21

4. As soon as the 7 battalions pass out after training, they will be posted to industrial undertakings which will thereafter bear the full cost of their maintenance. The cost of equipment, including vehicles, arms, etc., and their maintenance in respect of Forces permanently deployed will also be charged to them. Another 7 battalions of the Force will then be raised within the existing sanctioned strength of 7 battalions. This process will continue for 3-4 years until sufficient number of battalions have been raised, trained and posted to industrial undertakings. Proportionate cost of training and raising a battalion will also be recovered in respect of permanent strength sent to an undertaking.

5. Thus, at the end of the initial 3-4 years, the cost of maintenance of the entire Force will be borne by the participating industrial undertakings. The cost of the Headquarters Staff of the Inspector-General of the Force and the Zonal Deputy Inspector-Generals will be a permanent charge on the Central Government.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 22 of the Bill empowers the Central Government to make rules to carry out the purposes of the proposed enactment. The various matters in relation to which such rules may be made have been detailed in the various items of sub-clause (2) of that clause and relate mainly to the procedure to be followed in regulating the classes and grades, the terms and conditions of service and the powers and duties of, and the punishment to, members of the Force. These matters are details of procedure necessary for the effective governance of the Force and it is difficult to provide for these administrative details in the Bill itself. The delegation of legislative power is of a normal character.

B. N. BANERJEE,
Secretary.
